Introduction

While reading this handbook, please remember that kids will be kids. The intent of this program is not to replace play in the Kingdom, but to give the children something to participate in that is structured on Society means and ideals. The purpose is to help them learn about the Society, the way competition in the Society works, and respect for the processes that are undertaken to keep every one safe. Whether or not your child ever becomes a Heavy Weapon's Fighter, if they finish this program with a better understanding of how the SCA works, then it has done its job.

Please note that playing with foam swords, whether or not they meet the standards in this book, is NOT a restricted activity and it is at the sole discretion of the parents involved as to if they wish their children to play.

Robert of Glendon Auk, Society Marshal in January 2005, summed it up best:

“Somehow, there has been some confusion generated over the subject of boffers and Youth Combat. Let me dispel the confusion.

Boffers: An unregulated children's activity, open to anyone in the SCA. Not administered by the marshallate. Kids (or adults) at play. May be administered by MOCs. (Ministers of Children)

Youth Combat: A formalized system of combat which may or may not include boffer style weapons. Directly under Kingdom marshallate supervision. Characterized by a rule set, age divisions, usually skill level provisions, the mandatory use of armor, closely mirroring adult heavy combat. Used primarily as a system to engage SCA young people in SCA activities and train them for participation in adult heavy combat. Very closely monitored by the marshallate of a kingdom with significant parental participation. “

Youth Combat

Section 1: For parents

Youth Combat is organised, foam sword combat regulated by the rules and regulations as described in this book. The purpose of Youth Combat is to allow the children of Ealdormere to participate in Martial-like activities in a manner that will help them learn the aspects of Heavy Combat at a level appropriate to their age. Youth Combat involves the training and authorising of children between the ages of 6 to 15 in foam sword fighting. In order to participate in Sanctioned Ealdormere Youth Combat Tournaments the child must be authorised and must have completed the training as described in this book.

1. A: Definitions

Throughout this document the following terms will be used. They are defined here:

Parent: The parent or legal guardian of the child

Designated adult: The parent or another person above the age of 16 that the parent has designated to oversee the care of their child.

Division 1 - Children aged 6 to 8.

Division 2 – Children aged 9 to 12.

Division 3 – Children aged 13 to 15.

1. B: Basic Guidelines

There are several guidelines that anyone participating (trainers, marshals or combatants) in combat should adhere to:

1. SAFETY IS PARAMOUNT -All safety regulations are to be strictly enforced. The following safety regulations apply:
 - a) All participants must have valid paperwork (waivers, authorisation cards, etc.) prior to participating.
 - b) All weapons and armour must be inspected every time prior to use while the Minor is wearing it.
 - c) There must be a Warranted Marshal or Constable (depending on the nature of the activity, as described and required in these rules) present and participating at all times.
 - d) All combatants must know and understand the Youth Combat Rules of the List prior to participating.
 - e) For more information on Rules of the List, and Heavy Fighting, please see the Ealdormere Marshal's Handbook.

2. Attitude of Youth combatants and Adults -This program is for the children to have the same kind of fun as the Heavy Fighters, with safety and chivalry. Adults are reminded, "Let the combatants and the Youth Combat Marshalls work out the problems on the list field". A designated adult is asked not enter the list field without first being invited to do so by the Marshal or Constable running the bout. Designated adults are reminded that loud yelling from the sidelines often distracts the child, and may be detrimental to their performance. Though encouragement is highly recommended, please remember to keep it polite and friendly. The children are there to have fun. If designated adults cannot conduct themselves in a chivalrous manner, they will be asked to leave the list area and their child to withdraw from the tourney. Youth Combatants should be treated the same as a Heavy Fighter (not a little league game). Please remember with your new young fighters, the goal is to instil in them the ideals of chivalry when dealing with the problems on and off the field. If a designated adult notices behaviour in their child that is not appropriate, they should call 'HOLD' and approach the Youth Combat Marshal in Charge. The designated adult, after discussion with the Marshal, should then remove their child from the field, and discuss the child's behaviour with the child. The Marshal should not allow the child back onto the field until the parent has given the Marshal permission to do so.

1. C: Parents' Responsibilities

1. Parents are to understand this is a contact sport and that, despite the best attempts of these policies and rules, as in everyday play between children, injuries may occur. Parents should make sure they have read and understand the impact of all waivers and "consent to participate" forms prior to signing those forms.
2. For children in Division 1, a designated adult must be within visual and vocal range of the child at all times while the child is engaged in Youth combat activities. This includes both official fight practices and tournaments.
3. For children in Division 2, a designated adult must sign the child into the Youth Combat list and speak with the marshal, so that marshal is aware that the designated adult is aware that the child is engaging in Youth combat activities. They must continue to be on site while the child is engaged in Youth combat activities. This includes official fight practices and tournaments.
4. For children in Division 3, the child must have completed paperwork as per current SCA Inc requirements. Ask your local marshal if you are unsure of what that may be.
5. Parents are urged to become authorised Youth Combat Marshals and/or Constables so that they can work closely with their child in this activity.
6. Parents are responsible for their child's safety, with the Youth Combat Marshals and Constables guiding the armouring/safety process.
7. Parents are required to read and understand these rules and standards and are to make sure that their child follows them.

1. D: Training Of Youth Combatants

1. Anyone may train youths with their Parents permission.
2. All youth combatants will be instructed in the proper way to hold and use a weapon and to use a shield prior to facing any opponents, even in training
3. No child may face an opponent in training until a Youth Combat Marshal or Constable has given permission for them to do so.
4. A full inspection of all weapons and armour for each youth combatant must be completed prior to each tourney.

5. All children should be taught the following Youth Combat Rules of the List prior to their first training session and must know them before authorizing.

Youth Combat Rules of the List

- a) Never hit, touch, or contact anyone, using your weapon, shield or body, before a Marshal has yelled 'Lay-on'.
- b) Listen to the Marshal and/or Constable at all times.
- c) When someone yells 'Hold', stop what you are doing and don't move.
- d) Do not run into, over, or through the list ropes.
- e) Never hit anyone in anger. If someone has made you mad, yell 'hold', walk off the list and tell the Marshal or your parent why you are mad.
- f) Never hit anyone with your shield, or with anything that is not a foam weapon.
- g) Never hit anyone who is not aware you are there. If they are not looking at you, you should get their attention by either yelling their name, or a warning, and wait for them to see you before you hit them. You may not use your weapon or shield to get their attention.
- h) Never deliberately avoid someone. It will only make you both angry. If someone is trying to get your attention, defend yourself safely (either try to walk out of their weapon range, or lift your shield) and let them know you are aware of them.
- i) Never swing your weapon like a baseball bat. You do not want to hurt anyone, just strike them with your weapon.
- j) Never hit anyone while you are running at them on the field, you may jog slowly, but don't run at full speed.
- k) If someone falls down, or drops their weapon, step back and wait for them to pick it up, and then wait for the Marshal to call 'Lay-on' before striking.
- l) Only aim at legal target areas. Legal target areas are considered to be an inch above the knee, up to the top of your head, and down both arms to an inch above the wrist. Remember, there are some areas on the body where it really hurts to be hit, and even though it might be a legal target area, it is just not nice to try to hit someone there. These areas include between the legs for any fighter or in the throat. Try to avoid these areas.

1. E: Authorisation of Youth Combatants

1. No child may participate in a Youth Combat Tourney without a signed authorisation card (or a copy of the authorisation form while waiting for the card). All appropriate paperwork must be presented to the Youth Combat Marshal in Charge, or his designated List Official.
2. In order for a child to attempt to authorize, the youth combatant must have:
 - a) Armour and Weapons that pass inspection.
 - b) Knowledge of the Youth combat Rules of the List.
 - c) Shown safety in weapon and shield use.
3. At least one Youth Combat Marshal must be present to oversee any Minor authorisation, and a second Marshal or Youth Combat Constable must be present.
4. No Youth Combat Marshal or Constable can be the parent of the child being authorised.
5. Parents should be in attendance for authorization bouts.

6. The standard for initial authorisation is Weapon and Shield in all age groups, however, exceptions can be made with approval from the Deputy for Youth Combat.
7. In addition to the following criteria for initial authorization, all combatants must show a degree of accuracy and control for any secondary weapons form.
8. The youth combatant attempting authorisation must show competence in the following areas before passing the authorisation:
 - a) The use and function of all pieces of Armour and Weapons being used by them.
 - b) Understanding and adherence to the Minor Rules of the List
 - c) Safety in the use of weapons and shields appropriate to their age bracket.
 - d) Willingness to listen and obey the Marshal.
 - e) Self-control while on the field.
9. The authorisation bout will consist of:
 - a) An unauthorised minor sparring with an authorised minor opponent appropriate to that age group.  If another authorised minor is not available, the opponent may be another minor vying for authorisation or any opponent acceptable to both the designated adult and marshal.
 - b) The bouts will be structured in much the same way as armoured combat authorization bout. Sparring; calling all blows, first with the opponent fighting gently and then pressing harder. For Division 2 and 3, a section with the authorizing child fighting on their knees and then single sword off handed.
 - c) Primary authorization should end with a bout as if for Crown, including salutes and counted/ acted blows.
 - d) During and after each section the Marshals will instruct the youth combatant on any form or style that needs addressing.
 - e) During the course of the bouts, the Marshals will look for the following criteria:
 - i. Safety in use of weapon and shield (if appropriate)
 - ii. Targeting legal target areas only
 - iii. Control in use of force and temperament
 - iv. Willingness to listen to instruction
 - f) The Youth Combat Marshal in Charge will consult with the other Authorising Marshal(s) / Constable(s) before making a ruling on the success or failure of the authorisation. If it is felt that the child has displayed the above mentioned criteria, the youth combatant will be deemed as having passed the authorisation.
10. Once completed, if the child has passed the authorisation bout, the Youth Combat Marshal will complete the proper paperwork, and provide the designated adult with a copy to be sent to the Minister of the List. The proper paperwork shall consist of:
 - a) Youth Combat Authorisation Tracking Form – signed by Marshal.
 - b) “Minor’s Waiver and Informed Consent to Participate in SCA Combat-Related Activities”. The witnessing Marshal must countersign the waiver.
11. The Minister of the List, upon receiving the completed paperwork, will issue an authorisation card according to the minor’s correct age bracket.
 - a) The authorisation card will be valid until the expiration date: the day on which the minor enters the next age bracket. The authorisation card will be honoured for 3 months past the expiration date. (Any minor may begin to practise for the next age bracket 3 months prior to the expiration of their current authorisation card, but may not participate in that bracket prior to re-authorisation).

- b) Upon entering a new age bracket, the minor must re-authorise. The Designated adult must provide the new authorisation paperwork to the Minister of the List to obtain a new authorisation card.

1. F: Youth Combat Tournaments

1. Youth Combat Tournaments may be organised and run at any sanctioned SCA event where the individual in charge of the event has granted permission.
2. All Youth Combat Tournaments will have a designated Youth Combat Marshal / Constable in Charge.
3. There must be at least one Marshal or Constable on the list at all times.
4. In general, when numbers permit, children should fight within their own Division.
5. Combatants may face opponents from another age bracket, as agreed to by their designated adult and the marshal.
6. Depending upon such factors as size and skill, parents, with the permission of the Deputy for Youth Combat, may request that their child move up one Division. This would be permanent change and would require the minor to meet all minimum armour standards etc of the new Division and to authorize again.

Section 2: Armour and Weapon Standards

2. A: All age categories:

All parents should be aware that Weapon and Armour standards vary from Kingdom to Kingdom, and any person travelling outside of the Kingdom to events such as Pennsic or Gulf Wars, should check these standards BEFORE travelling.

(I) Weapon Standards

1. All weapons will have a marked striking edge with a stripe of contrasting tape down the length of the edge.
2. All weapons need a minimum of one layer of 3/8" pipe insulation foam or 3/8" of other closed cell foam over the striking surface.
3. All weapons will have a minimum one layer duct tape wrapped loosely.
4. Weapons will have no hard materials used in the construction of the striking surface.
5. Quillions must be at least 1.25" in diameter. Counterweights are acceptable.
6. Single handed weapons should be have a blade length approximately the size of the combatants arm. A smaller head is appropriate for an axe or mace.
7. Great Weapons should be a maximum of approximately the height of the child, to a maximum of 5 feet for axes and 6 feet for spears, polearms, and great swords. This includes the thrusting tip and butt spike.
8. Two handed weapons should not be excessively 'whippy'.
9. All weapons must have a thrusting tip consisting of closed cell foam and tape, loosely wrapped, a minimum 2 inches in diameter and 2 inches past the end of the core. The tip should be sturdy enough to not completely fold over upon impact. The thrusting tip must be wrapped in a different colour of tape from the flat of the sword and may be the same colour as the striking edge. Butt spikes are constructed in the same way.
10. Shields may not be used as offensive weapons (You may not push your shield into someone, or hit someone with your shield.).
11. Shield shapes should be recognizable as an SCA shield, they should not look like a 'fantasy' shape, or a totem shape (i.e.: not dragons, animals, etc.).
12. No tourney shield should be substantially greater in length than the child's length between the chin to the crotch, and wider than the minor's width from shoulder to shoulder. Melee shields may be larger, but the child still must be able to use it safely.
13. All shields may be made out of plastic, wood, cardboard, aluminum, or similar material and should have no protruding pieces. Any shield having metal projecting more than 1/4 inch from the face of the shield, other than a shield boss, must pad or tape it.
14. All shields must be edged so as to not cause damage to weapons or shields.

(II) Armour Standards:

Helmets with face masks from sports such as hockey and lacrosse are the minimum. Period-looking helms are encouraged, bearing in mind the size & weight of the child. Other helmets will be considered on a case by case basis by a Youth Combat Marshal. Chinstrap is required. Spacing on helm bars should be adequate to prevent weapons from hitting the face. The faceplate must extend at least one (1) inch below the wearer's chin line. No sharp part of the faceplate may be pressed into touching the face nor should any unpadded part of the faceplate rest on the face.

(III) Blow Calibration

1. No blows may be thrown until the Marshal has called "Lay-on".
2. The standard armoured combat target conventions apply. (i.e. Target areas include the head, torso, legs, down to one inch above the knee, and arms down to one inch above the wrist)
3. Excessive force is prohibited. Marshals or constables may remove combatants from the field for excessive force infractions,
4. Combat shall be standard conventions as found in the Kingdom of Ealdormere Marshal's Handbook, available from your local Heavy Combat Marshal or on the Kingdom Web page, except whatever differences are described in these rules.

2. All weapons will have one golf tube center (stiff foam inside is acceptable to prevent the weapon from being too 'whip-like'). All weapons should have a minimum of 3/8" foam wrapped around a golf tube center. The tape should not be wrapped in a manner that will cause pre-compression of the foam to the golf tube center. 1" Polyethylene Water Supply tubing (such as siloflex) is an acceptable substitute for golf tubes, but will not require stiffening foam. The ends of the tube must be taped closed.

Section 3: For Marshalls

Youth Combat is regulated through the Earl Marshal's office. All authority to change and enforce Youth Combat in the Kingdom of Ealdormere is through the Earl Marshal, by means of the Deputy for Youth Combat. Only the Deputy for Youth Combat and the Earl Marshal may initiate and implement changes to this handbook and any related rules or regulations. The Deputy for Youth Combat must receive full approval from the Earl Marshal and the Privy Council prior to implementing any changes.

Any foam sword fighting, training or authorisations that occur at an event that is not under the jurisdiction of a Warranted Youth combat Marshal is not recognised by the Deputy of Youth Combat, and will not qualify for inclusion in this program.

3. A. Basic Guidelines

1. Encourage good forms – Place more emphasis on the manner in which the Minor is throwing the blow, or using the shield, than on its impact or productivity. This will also enforce the idea of safety first. This will allow for better fighting when they are ready for rattan. The better their form is the less likely they will have physical problems on entering the heavy fighter list.
2. Do not worry about strength of impact, teach to take light and use good form -We are dealing with young people with still developing bodies. We, as instructors, are better off trying to get them to increase reflexes, dexterity, and balance. Strength will come later.
3. Encourage Team Work - If you have enough older youth combatants and safety equipment, start looking at the group tactics and melees. Triads are a good place to start. This will allow the youth combatants to mix in easier when they begin to join the heavy fighters in melees.
4. They should have fun too – remember that children, especially very young ones, have a short attention span. Don't spend so much time teaching that they get bored before they get to fight.
5. If the fighters look tired, strongly suggest that they sit out. If someone is not having fun, "do something about it". Do not be afraid to bring the child's condition to the Marshal or Constable in Charge, and request they speak to the youth combatant about continuing.
6. Fighting is only one part of the SCA - You should encourage all youth combatants to look into creating and studying the other aspects of the SCA. The Arts & Sciences, Service, Heraldry, Archery are all good places to start. You may be their first contact, make it a meaningful experience.
7. The Deputy of Youth Combat and the Earl Marshal must approve all Youth Combat Marshals. The Earl Marshal may choose to grant sole authority for approval of all Youth Combat Marshals (warranting must remain with the Earl Marshal) to the Deputy of Youth Combat. This authority may only be granted in writing from the Earl Marshal.

3. B: Youth Combat Marshals / Constables and In-Training Marshals / Constables
